

Psychological & Brain Sciences Research Assistant (Upper Division)

Pass/No Pass: PSY 199P _____ or Letter Graded: PSY 199 _____

OBJECTIVE:

Independent research projects are designed to provide undergraduates with the opportunity to expand and apply skills and knowledge gained from their regular undergraduate coursework in a research setting.

POLICY:

Students wishing to enroll in PSY 199/P must be juniors and seniors with full major standing, have achieved a cumulative 3.0 GPA or above in the last three quarters, and have taken at least two PSY upper division courses. Students must have taken 99P or 199P (pass/no pass option) previously to qualify for PSY 199 (letter grade)—the letter grade option requires a paper whose requirements are assigned by the supervisor. Two copies must be turned in: one to supervisor for grading, and the other to the department for verification.

TRAININGS: Participation in PSY 199/P requires up to two trainings. For training information and instructions, follow directions on the reverse of this form. Trainings need only to be done once per lab.

Please fill out the following & attach a copy of your Unofficial Transcripts to this form.

TRAINING INSTRUCTIONS & APPLICATION PROCEDURE:

Bring these four items to an Undergraduate Advisor (Psy East 1814) to receive an add code:

1. The PSY RA Form (this form) completely filled out;
 - a. IRB # (should be obtained from lab manager or supervisor)
 - b. Proposal of job duties
 - c. Signature of the FACULTY sponsors (not the TA/Grad/Post Doc).
2. A copy of Unofficial Transcripts printed from GOLD (required every quarter).
3. Proof of completion of the Human Subjects Training Module (required one time per lab).
4. Printed screen shot of quiz score as proof of completion of the UCSB Safety, Rights, Responsibilities, & Resources Web Orientation (required one time per lab).

GUIDELINES:

- a) Credits for PSY 199/P are calculated on approximately 3 hours of work per unit per week. For example: a 4-unit course represents approximately 10-12 hours per week on a project, along with weekly supervision by the supporting Faculty member. PSY 199P (the pass no pass option) grades are generated based mostly on this participation ratio.
- b) Students enrolled in PSY 199 (for a letter grade option) must also submit a paper. The regulations of the paper are determined by each individual lab, but department standard requests approximately 2-pages per unit for graded research to be properly evaluated. Students are required to submit two copies of their RA paper: one to the supervisor and one to the department.
- c) Students may take up to 5 199/P units per quarter split between labs/departments, but are only allowed a 4-unit maximum per lab each quarter. The university has a combined 30 unit maximum in all courses identified as 99P/99/199/199AA-ZZ.
- d) If you complete summer school at UCSB, the grades can be weighted along with the 3 previous quarters if beneficial to the student. Varying GPA calculation is up to Advisor discretion.

NOTES:

ψ Each Research Assistant must submit this proposal form for every quarter in which they plan to receive credit. Volunteers must also submit this paperwork and do the trainings to comply with university research policy.

ψ Research Paper must be submitted to Faculty sponsor BEFORE a letter grade can be assigned. The highest letter grade that can be given without a paper is C. For pass/no pass grades, attendance and quality of work must remain above satisfactory to earn a passing mark.

ψ Reminder: The first quarter of unit credit research must be taken as “PSY 199P” (pass/no pass). NO EXCEPTIONS! Students who volunteered in a lab will still need to start with PSY 199P if they want their research documented on an official transcript.
